Dear Friends,

The Journal of Pediatric Endocrinology and Diabetes (JPED) is growing by leaps and bounds. We are noting increasing submissions and footfalls marking the improvement in the growth trajectory of our journal.

I am sure you will have an interesting read with this issue of the journal. We have several fascinating articles and reviews to stimulate your interest. We are happy to note that JPED is generating interest in pediatric endocrinology circles around the world.

We are seeing a sea of change across India in the care delivered to children with endocrine issues, with the growth of Pediatric Endocrinology as a specialty. IDEAL course conducted by ISPAE for improving care of children with type 1 diabetes mellitus (T1DM) has brought about enormous improvement in the well-being of these children. The huge advancement in health outcomes and availability of health care resources for children with T1DM is becoming more visible with the care and dedication shown by the IDEAL Committee in taking the benefits to all corners of the country.

We are looking forward to meeting all of you at the APPES-ISPAAE 2024 Joint meeting in New Delhi from the 2nd to the 5th of October 2024.

We hope to invite more submissions from your research and spread awareness far and wide.

Kind regards,

Ahila Ayyavoo,
Department of Paediatric Endocrinology and Diabetes,
G. Kuppaswamy Naidu Memorial Hospital and Parvathy Clinic,
