President's note

Dear Teachers, Seniors, and Friends,

Greetings from the Team ISPAE 2021-22!

It gives me immense pleasure to share that JPED is now releasing a successful third issue. I congratulate the team JPED for this success.

This year has been great with many more academic and awareness programs under the aegis of ISPAE. We have completed two batches of ISPAE's Diabetes Education and Learning (IDEAL) course for diabetes educators and one batch for trainee physicians. We hope to continue the IDEAL-diabetes educators course with all your cooperation. We also completed two batches of Basic Education Series for T1D courses (BEST) for parents and caregivers with type 1 diabetes, which was very well appreciated. I thank all the faculties who took time out of their busy clinical schedule to share and teach about diabetes management.

We will soon be coming out with modules for growth, thyroid, and type 1 diabetes for general pediatricians, general physicians, parents, and schools for early detection and treatment of pediatric endocrine problems.

We have now just moved out of the COVID pandemic virtual meetings to physical meetings.

We welcome you all to ISPAE-ISPAD 2022 meeting to be held on November 19–20, 2022, at Chandigarh.

Wishing the editorial team of JPED the very best!

Dr. Shaila S Bhattacharyya
